THEATRE

SENIORS ON STAGE

Ages 55+ | Sept 8 - Nov 3 (8 weeks) | Andrea Kennedy Hart

No Class Monday, 10/13

Have you always dreamed of stepping on stage but never had the chance? This welcoming and engaging class is designed just for you. Whether you're brand new to acting or returning after years away, you'll explore the magic of theater in a supportive, no-pressure environment.

Together, we'll read and analyze scripts, bring scenes to life, play with improvisation, and discover the tools actors use to tell powerful stories. You'll build confidence, stretch your imagination, and connect with others through creativity and play.

No experience necessary—just bring your curiosity, your courage, and a willingness to have fun!

At the end of the session, students will share a short presentation for family and friends to celebrate all they've learned.

FROZEN - KIDS EDITION! A PERFORMANCE WORKSHOP

Ages 7-14 | Sept 3 - Nov 15 (11 weeks) | Andrea Kennedy Hart & Theater Faculty

Do you want to build a snowman? "Frozen KIDS" is a 30-minute stage adaptation of the Disney movie "Frozen," designed for elementary school students. It features all the songs from the animated film, like "Let It Go" and "Do You Want to Build a Snowman?", along with new songs from the Broadway musical adaptation. The story follows Anna, Elsa, Olaf, and Sven on an adventure about self-discovery, sisterhood, and the meaning of true love.

This is a tuition-based workshop production for kids ages 7 - 14. Each week, students will participate in two 1.5 hour rehearsals sessions. During these rehearsals, they will learn the basics of acting, stage movement, and characterization. The goal is to give kids' performance skills and help them build confidence and develop skills they can use throughout their performing career! Tuition includes one ticket to one of the performances!

HISTORY THROUGH MUSICAL THEATER - HOMESCHOOL CLASS FOR TEENS

Ages 13-18 | Sept 4 - Nov 2 (10 weeks) | Andrea Kennedy Hart

What if history class felt more like rehearsal? In this immersive and creative course, we'll dive into the past through the electrifying world of musical theater. From revolutions and social movements to personal stories of survival and change, Broadway has always had something to say about the world—and we'll explore how.

Using shows like Hamilton, Ragtime, Hairspray, Rent, and more, students will investigate key historical moments and movements while sharpening their performance skills through music, scenes, and storytelling. Along the way, we'll ask big questions: Who gets to tell history? What gets remembered—and what gets left out? And how can theater be a tool for truth, resistance, and connection?

This class is perfect for performers, thinkers, and anyone who wants to bring the past to life with purpose and passion.
